BREED THEATER.

Of the long list of extra fine motion pictures now being shown at the Breed theater this week, mone is more interesting or thrilling than the great southern picture. The Northern Schoolmaster. This is a strong story of the conflicting factions at the close of the civil war, and shows one of the greatest fire-rescue pictures in the business. Lady Helen's Escapade is the title of another brilliant comedy drama, and for gorgeousness of settings and contumes is seidom equalled. The remainder of the excellent programme shows such pictures as the following: A Troublesome Satchel, Every Lass a Queen, Martins Leave Home for a Week, Reforming a Husband, and the screamingly funny rural masterpiece, Uncle Reuben's Courtship.

Mr. Delancy is featuring the big success. "Ain't Alabama Good Enough for You. Sue?" with handsome colored sides to accompany it. Madam Morelle is continuing her former success with the concert number. "Patti's Waltz Song," and the pretty illustrated song, "Is it Very Far to Heaven?" Of the long list of extra fine n

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The Thomas orchestra in Chicago losed its season a short time ago and eports no deficit.

Loie Fuller, the dancer, will make a tour of the United States in the fall under the management of H. H. Hen-Edouad Colonne, the famous French onductor, has recovered from his ill-less and is back with his orchestra.

Bisson's "La Femme X," Mme. Jane Hading's great success at the Theater Port St. Matin is the play which Hen-ry W. Savage has selected to open his dramatic season in New York.

George Alexander has withdrawn the new comedy, "Col. Smith," from the stage of his St. James' theater in London and has mounted again Henri Bernstein's drama, "The Thief."

Articles of incorporation of the Charles Emerson Cook theatrical comcany, intending to do a general amuse-ment business, have been filed with the secretary of state at Albary. The new company has a capital of $10,000.

Robert Edeson and Gertrude Cogh-ian have been engaged to act the chief characters in William Somerset Maugham's comedy, 'The Noble Span-iard," which will be produced next season by Henry B. Harris.

Beerbohm Tree revived recently Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People" at His Majesty's theater in London. The London Times said concerning the play that it is "the simplest, the casiest and perhaps, too, the swiftest and most external in action" of all Ibsen's

THE BLIND FLOWER GIRL'S SONG Buy my flowers—O buy, I pray, The blind girl comes from sfar; if the earth be as fair as I hear them

On their lips her sweet kiss lingers On their lips her sweet kins lingers yet, and their cheeks with her tender tears are wet.
For she weeps—that gentle mother weeps
(As morn and night her watch she keeps,
With a yearning heart and a pussionate care).
To see the young things grow so fair;—She weeps—for love she weeps—And the dews are the tears she weeps
From the well of a mother's love.

Ye have a world of light, Where love in the loved rejotess; But the blind girl's home is the house of night And its beings are empty voices.

As one in the realm below,
I stand by the streams of woe;
I hear the vain shadows glide,
I feel their soft breath at my side,
And I thirst the loved forms to see,
And I stretch my fond arms around,
And I catch but a shapeless sound.
For the living are ghosts to me.

Come buy—come buy!— Hark! how the awent things sigh (For they have a voice like ours). The breath of the bind girl closes The leaves of the saddening rases— We are tender, we sons of light. We shrink from this child of night; From the grasp of the billed girl free We yourn for the eyes that see us—
We are for night too gay.
In your eyes we behold the day—
O; buy—O, buy the flowers!"
—Edward Bulwer Lytton.
